T-Buck, LLC Introduces Revolutionary New Hunting Product - Making a Stand for Safety™ -

Hanna City, IL -- T-Buck, LLC recently introduced The Total Buck System™, an innovative treestand system that responds favorably to deer hunter's need. This exciting new product offers ease of assembly and installation and provides an enhanced level of safety for hunters.

Hunter safety is a primary focus at T-Buck, LLC and the company has adopted Making a Stand for Safety™ as a central theme. Each year many deer hunters are injured as a result of falls from tree stands. According to one survey, most accidents occur when the hunter is climbing up to or down from the elevated platform. While most ladder stands only provide protection while the hunter is seated, The Total Buck System™ provides complete protection for the hunter from the moment they leave the ground until they safely return. The patent pending First Step Every Step™ system provides a unique method for connecting the hunter to the ladder during installation and actual use.

A company survey of hunters found that the number one complaint with the ladder stands on the market today pertains to the amount of time required for assembly. Due to space limitations most ladder stands are shipped from the factory as a box full of parts, usually requiring several hours of assembly. The Total Buck System™ requires very little assembly and can go right from the box to the tree. With little effort, a hunter can install the system and be hunting in less than thirty minutes.

An added feature of The Total Buck System™ is clearly realized during installation. Most ladder stands on the market today require installation by two or three persons. Two hunters at a minimum are required to lift the top-heavy ladder stand and lean it against the tree. Due to its unique patent pending design, one person can safely and easily install a T-Buck™ ladder stand. Once the ladder is installed, a unique trolley system lifts the platform to the perfect hunting height.

Modular in design, The Total Buck System™ provides total flexibility for the hunter. A broad assortment of accessories that are easily installed allow the hunter the flexibility to change the configuration of the treestand. A hunter can quickly change from a stand setup for bow hunting to a rifle or shotgun stand in just minutes.
